

URBAN Emotions

Request for Participation

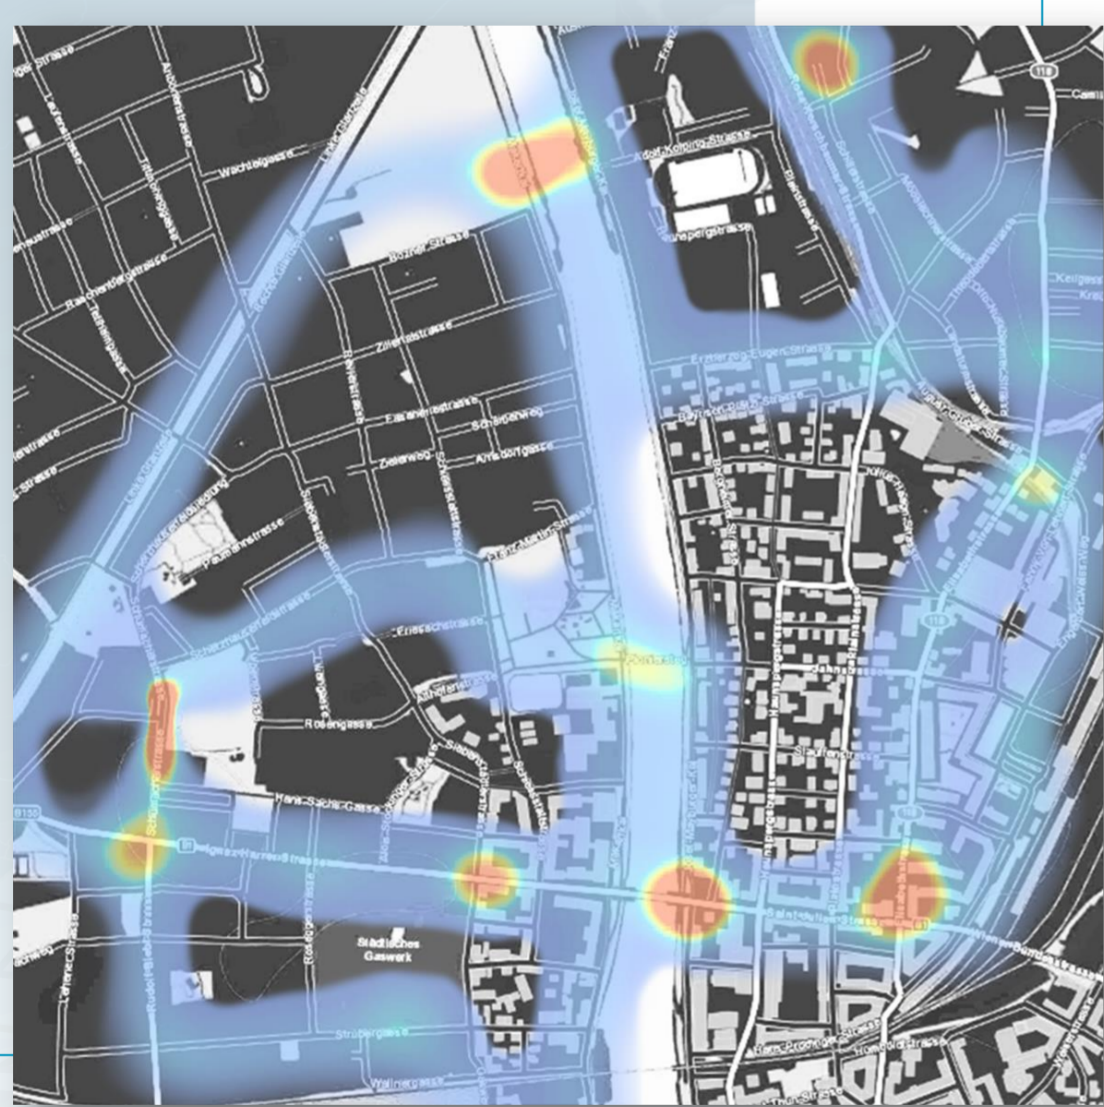

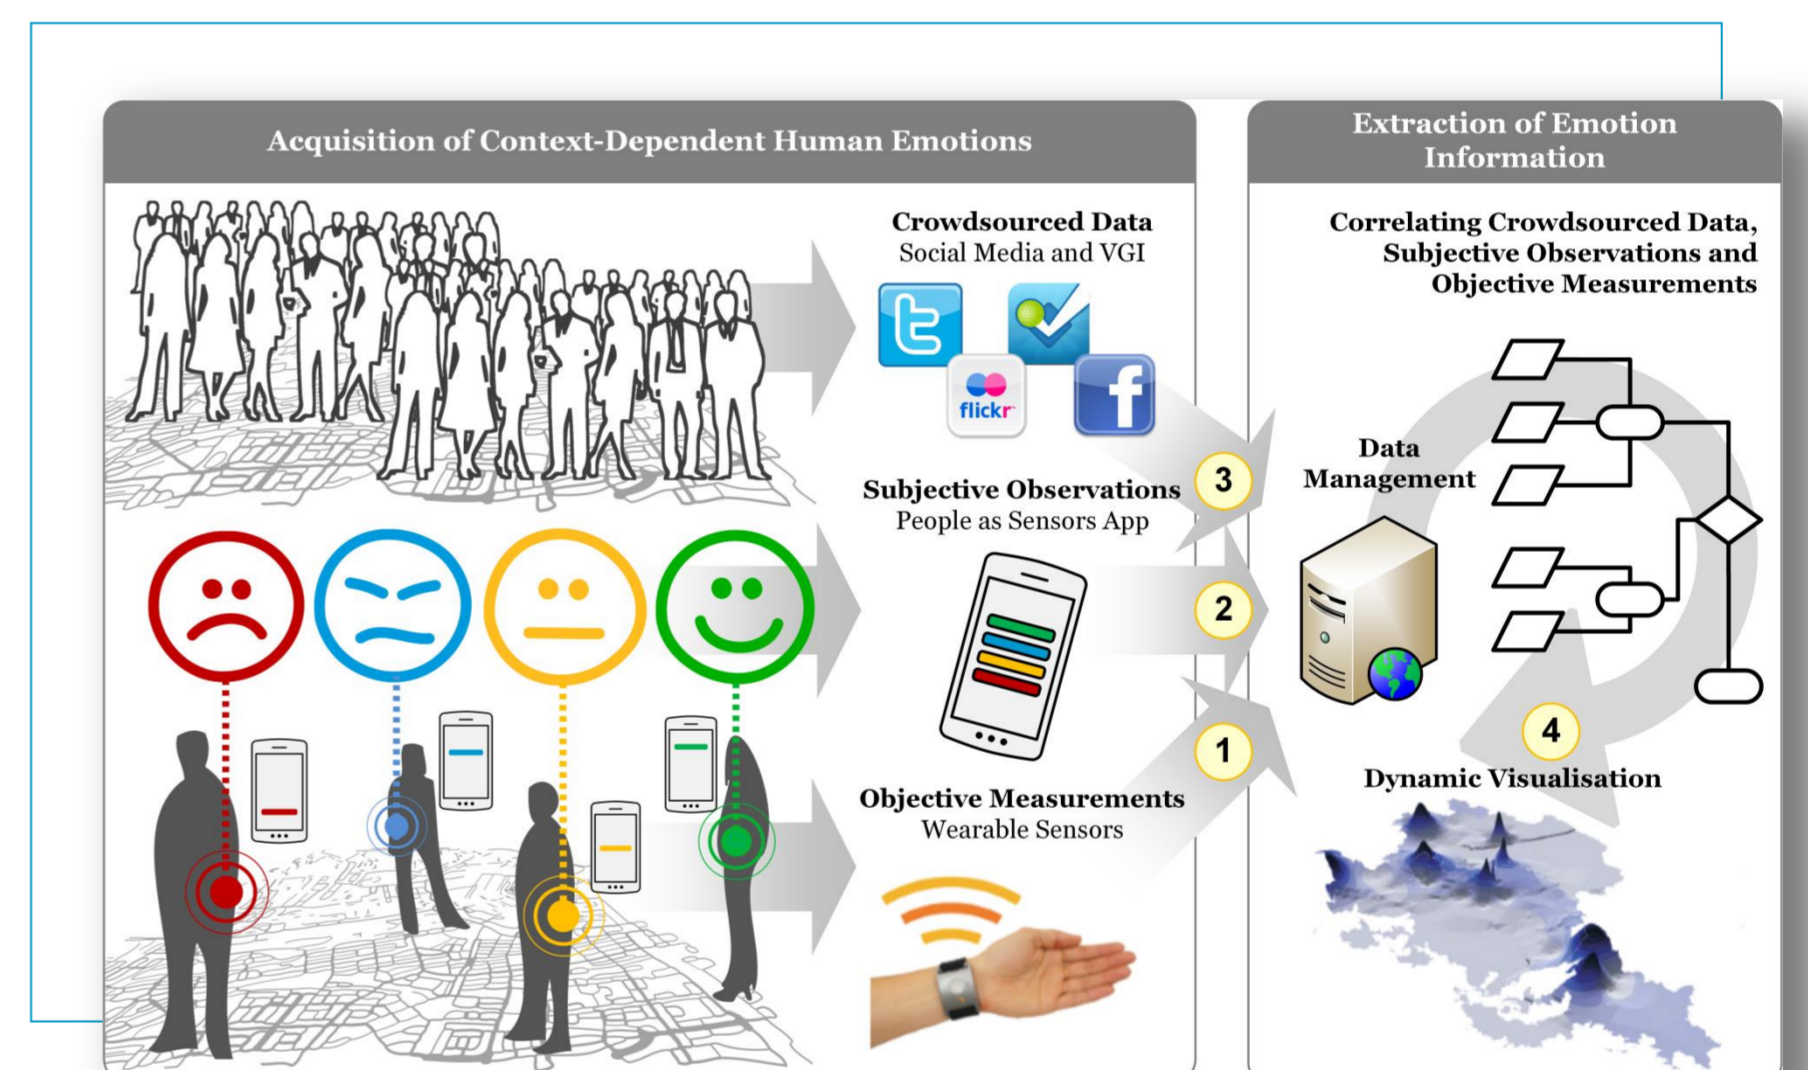

What the project is about...

- The “Urban Emotions” project investigates the use of emotion information in urban planning for the creation of more citizen-centred cities.

What we are looking for...

- We are seeking participants for a field test in Boston, in which we investigate the bike ability of the city.
- Participants just need to ride a bike.

What expects you...

- You take a bike ride through Cambridge/Boston wearing our emotions sensors.
- Duration: ~1 hour, no track restrictions
- When all this happens: 10-17 September 2015
Harvard CGA, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge MA
